Introduction

Operating Guide for Antenna Divider Systems for the Sabine True Mobility Wireless Systems: SWM3000 UHF 30-channel True Diversity Receiver (SWA4U) and SWM1600 VHF 16-channel True Diversity Receiver (SWA4V).

Your Sabine Antenna Divider features very low inter-modulation distortion, high dynamic range and low noise components, and eliminates interference in multiple system usage.

Please refer to your True Mobility Receiver Operating Guide for important information about the correct setup of your receiver.

General information on antenna placement

The Antenna Divider should be placed in an open area within visual range of the intended microphone locations. Note that the range of a True Mobility transmitter is about 100 meters, but that structural objects can lessen that range. Extension antennas can be added to maintain good reception even when the antenna divider is located far from the transmitters.

CAUTIONS

- ▲ Since the installation of the antennas influences the operating efficiency of the receiver, the most important rule is to minimize the distance between receiving antenna and transmitter for better reception and performance.
- ▲ Keep the system away from electrical-noise sources (electric motors, refrigerators, arc welders, etc.). Place the antenna divider at least one meter above floor level. Keep all transmitters at least 3 meters away from a receiver antenna.

Your Antenna Divider can be installed into an EIA standard rack-mount case using the rack-mount brackets provided. Sabine also offers Rear-to-Front Antenna Converter Kits (SWA100), UHF or VHF Extension Antennas (SWAUEXT, SWAVEXT), and a UHF Extension Antenna Boosters (SWAUB) to improve reception.

Components

This antenna divider will allow you to connect up to 4 Sabine SWM3000 UHF receivers (SWA4U) or 4 Sabine SWM1600 VHF receivers (SWA4V) to one set of antennas — thus alleviating the “porcupine effect” of multiple-receiver antenna placement — and improving reception as well. This setup can be combined with the Sabine UHF Extension Antennas (SWAUEXT) or the Sabine VHF Extension Antenna (SWAVEXT) for additionally improved reception. Extension antennas must be purchased separately.

Included in SWA4U and SWA4V kits

Qty	Item Description

2	Rack Mount Brackets
1	AC-to-DC Power Adapter
1	Instruction Manual

Installation Connections

1. Using rack mount brackets supplied, install the Sabine Antenna Divider into an EIA standard cabinet (this step is optional).
2. Attach the two antennas supplied with your receiver to the A and B Antenna Input Connectors on the back of the Antenna Divider. To improve reception, you can replace the supplied antennas with Sabine Extension Antennas (UHF: SWAUEXT or VHF: SWAVEXT).
3. Using the supplied cables, connect the #1 A and B Antenna Outputs on the Antenna Divider to the corresponding Antenna A and B TNC connectors on your #1 Sabine Wireless Receiver. Proceed in the same fashion for the remaining Sabine Wireless units.
4. Plug the AC-to-DC Power Adapter cord into the DC Power Input Jack on the back of the Antenna Divider. Plug the adapter into an appropriate AC power source (see Caution #1 below).
5. Turn on Power switch.

General Installation Cautions

1. Power Supply: Be sure to plug your unit into an appropriate power source. Low voltage (<12 Volt) will cause the unit not to function properly. High voltage (>18 volt), or fluctuating voltage may damage the unit.
2. UHF/VHF Mixing: Do not mix UHF and VHF receivers on one Antenna Divider. For UHF reception, use a Sabine SWA4U Antenna Divider. For VHF reception, use a Sabine SWA4U Antenna Divider.
3. Antenna Shorting: Be careful not to allow the antenna to come in contact with metal surfaces (antenna divider case, other wires, cables, etc.).
4. Receiver to Antenna Divider cables: Keep these cables as short as possible. It is recommended to use the cables supplied with your Antenna Divider.
5. Extension Antenna cables: For best results, use high quality coaxial cable with a 50 Ohm impedance. Specifications will vary by cable manufacturer. For best results, the cable attenuation should be no more than 6 dB per 100 feet (30 meters) in the transmitter/receiver band. Examples of such cables are RG217/U for UHF and RG58/U for VHF. The longer your cable, the more you can subtract from the 100-meter range between transmitter and receiver antenna. A well-placed extension antenna will eliminate trouble spots and generally improve overall performance of the wireless.
